"Thank you, doctor," murmured the patient. "Now give me the scientific name so I can tell the family."

Fire, some quite serious, some minor, within the Town of Drayton Valley. The companies for whom the boys work are to be commended at letting them drop whatever they might be doing at the instant the fire alarm rings to answer the fire call.

The new telephone fire alarm is quite elaborate. Seven phones are distributed at strategic places around town and when the fire call is sent in it rings in at all seven places at the same time. The seven places are: The Police Station, the Fire Hall, the home of Chief Greiner, the home of Assistant Chief Allanbrand, and the homes of Captains Genor and Twissel. The seventh phone ring at the home of Driven Stan Schleck, who lives close to the fire hall. The phone hookup is a party-line setup and all seven ring at once and all can listen in for directions as to the location of the fire, etc. Anyone of the seven can blow the fire siren, when necessary.

An unusual thing happened a few weeks ago when the alarm system was short-circuited and the fire alarm kept blaring with no fire on hand. An electrician was sent along the line, and he

PLEBISCITE VOTE

On May 31st, Wednesday a vote of the proprietary electors of the Town of Drayton Valley will be held in the town council chambers from 10:00 a.m. until 7:00 p.m. This plebiscite, if passed will authorize the purchase of some 32 acres of land, partially in the town limits, to be developed for sports and recreational purposes. On Tuesday evening immediately preceding the plebiscite a meeting for proprietary electors will be held in the Community Hall to discuss the plebiscite. This meeting will be held at 8:00 o'clock.

The Town of Drayton Valley, with the hiring of a full time recreational director has made a good step toward taking care of the leisure time of all individuals and the purchase of this property will enable the program to be more fully developed for the benefit of all concerned.

MUNICIPAL POLICE CONVENTION

As all first-time visitors to Drayton Valley those of the visiting police officers who were here for the first time expressed amazement at the size and development of the Drayton Valley. Most people come here, apparently expecting to find a tiny cluster of houses and stores. All are uniformly amazed to find a modern, up-to-date town of this size.

Second Row, (standing) D.J. Towns, Rocky Mountain House; J.A. Janus, University of Alberta Police; A.L. Miller, Drayton Valley; U.S. Anderson.

Twenty three members of the Alberta Municipal Police, Northern Zone, gathered in Drayton Valley last week for a convention. The group met in the Drayton Valley Town Hall. Councilor John Brown gave an address of welcome to the Town of Drayton Valley. Mr. J. A. Cameron, Superintendent of the Juvenile Offenders Branch and the Adult Probation Branch addressed the group with a very fine talk on the work of the Probation Department. Mr. Cameron said that the Probation Department started with four probation officers and now has some fifty employed.

While the men were in conference the Drayton Valley Toastmistress Club was entertaining their wives. The men briefly adjourned their meeting while the ladies served them coffee and Mrs. Joan Cumlin, of the Toastmistress Club gave them a very excellent talk on Drayton Valley, with accompanying slides by Mrs. Darla Belling on various phases of the oil industry, developments in the town of Drayton Valley and in the district following the first discovery of oil here. The police officers then returned to their meeting until five o'clock when they adjourned for a banquet which was held in the Cardium Royal.

Rev. Fr. Scriven opened the meal with prayer and during the meal Mr. Don McKenzie addressed the group briefly. Following the banquet the officers returned to the meeting where a business meeting was conducted.

A HOLE IN ONE, Drayton Valley's Mayor was the first golfer on the local course to make a hole in one, that dream of all golfers (a dream so seldom realized). Golfer Adrian Meier made his hole-in-one shot to the ninth hole and landed neatly in the cup. Far for the two hundred seventy yard hole is four. The picture shows Mr. Meier joyfully holding his club aloft at the ninth hole, staff photo.

The minutes of the last regular meeting, the Budget meeting and the Court of Revision were read and adopted as read. The list of accounts was read, approved and passed for payment.

The Financial Statement for the month of April was presented, examined and accepted for filing.

Council confirmed the remittance of a bill of account to the Housing Committee for rental of bleachers in the amount of $510.00.

Council recommended that a copy of the meeting be held and that the Secretary advertise the plebiscite on the purchase of the (Cont. page 11, Col. 3)

Looking at Recreation

SPRING TIME IS PLAY TIME

As a year rolls around every season brings its changes unique to that specific time. Every new season has something exciting to offer that induces the human heart to marvel at the ever-changing forces of nature. In all spheres of life the warm season is most favorable and enthusiastic enjoyed by one and all in this country. The declining days of autumn, though frequently somber, carry with them un-expected beauty while the frosty snows of early winter have been awesome throughout the year.

Of all the seasons, however, springtime seems to have that extra special touch which sets it apart. This warm period has been universally praised in hymn and song and has prompted the fact to pass some of the most beautiful lives ever written. It is a season of hope, a time of relaxation, or as the immortal Charles Dickens so nobly described it: "the return of life." All that was dead and moribund, a couple of short months ago, is now lively bubbling over with that new life that is prevalent everywhere. The vernal spirit is in the air and it touches every living being with its magic wand.

At this time in every phase of this diversified life of our town are countless new projects at hand, in fact as the old saying goes, most of us are too busy to fathom the depths of the season's beauty. And here I must say that the field of recreation or leisure time activity is no exception. Everyone young and old have their leisure pursuits and this is the ideal season to get rolling. There is plenty doing on the golf course most of the time and especially on weekends. The ball diamonds are busy with every level of baseball being played by the men and boys and a busy schedule of softball for the fairer sex at all ages. For those who prefer the great outdoors, there is fishing galore in our lakes and streams and thousands of natural camping spots as well as a host of ideal picnicking sites. The playground is gradually becoming a busy place especially where the tots and pre-schoolers are concerned. In a word this season of life and hope seems to have spurred everyone to activity in one capacity or another. This vernal season is positive the season time to go for a Recreation Director to produce a sound community recreation program, that is a program that is all inclusive and democratic; one that serves both sexes, all ages, all races, peoples of all economic and social brackets and those of all national origins and religious preferences. Now there are times especially during the winter months when this is quite a bit to fill, however, with proper planning, management and co-operation this ideal can be realized in late spring and during the subsequent summer months.

Spring certainly is a many things to many people. Life-giving nature has much to offer to every human in this world of ours. Young and old enjoy the pleasant weather and generally take advantage of it in any possible way. All considered, spring seems to be the ideal recreation season. It is the playtime of the year.

ROTARY PARK OPENS:
The Rotary Community Park playground will officially open on a part time basis on Thursday, May 26th. From that date onward there will be a qualified playground supervisor on duty every Tuesday and Thursday from 4:00 P.M. till 6:00 P.M., and on Saturdays from 9:00 P.M. to 6:00 P.M., subject to weather conditions. The Park will officially open on a full time scale on Saturday, July 1, 1961. During July and August two supervisors will be on duty and a suitable schedule will be set up where by children of all ages and all playground activities will receive an equal amount of attention.

The Rotary Community Park Wading Pool will open on Saturday, June 10th at 2:00 P.M. and weather permitting will be open every weekend until July 1st in after which it will be open daily during the holiday season. All children visiting the pool, when it is officially open will be under qualified supervision at all times. It is hoped that a favorable schedule will be drawn up whereby the children at different age levels will have a fair share of time in the water.

Secretary. This school will be held in Red Deer and will run from June 30 to July 1 inclusive. After her return she will be on duty at the playgrounds daily during the summer months. With Shirley and Frieda on hand for the coming season we can look forward to an experienced and an outstanding caliber of supervision at the Rotary Community Park.

Here I might mention that by choosing Mrs. Leusenburgh to take the Playground Leaders' Course, and thereby qualify as an official leader, the Drayton Valley Recreation Board is in the process of trying out a new policy in regard to choosing their leaders. During past years high school students have always been picked to attend those leadership courses, however, very few of those people were able to give the town more than a few months of service and we were not interested in following the required courses from year to year. As a result of this the Board felt that this method was not paying off and each year a new and inexperienced playground leader could be expected.

On the other hand by choosing married women like Mrs. Leusenburgh for this work, the Board can look forward to build an experienced playground staff. Those people have their homes and families but they can spare enough time from year to year to increase their knowledge in this business and make it a fairly profitable sideline. This is something that is very difficult if not impossible for a high school student. It is an employment on a full time basis it would be an excellent bet for a young person coming out of high school but since it is only two months' work at the best of times, it would seem like more suitable employment for an older and more settled person who could afford to consider this job more as a sideline and at the same time be available for the required re-education courses from year to year. I am in full agreement that this is the only way that we will be able to keep a qualified staff of leaders at our playgrounds in the future. Right now we are exceptionally fortunate that Shirley Sieben is returning this year and that Mrs. Leusenburgh is available otherwise we would be going along with inexperienced hands which is not good at the best of times especially when we have to deal with the problem of children and water. Some previous training is most desirable in any leadership work.

GENERAL MEETING
A general meeting under the auspices of the Drayton Valley Recreation Board will be held in the B.P.O.E. Elks Hall at 8:00 P.M. on Tuesday, May 30, 1961. The purpose of this meeting is to discuss the pros and cons of the acquisition and development of some thirty acre of land at the South-west corner of town for recreational and athletic use. A plebiscite will be held on this issue at the Town Hall on May 31st, from 10:00 A.M. to 7:00 P.M.

This general meeting will be chaired by Mr. J. P. V. Recreation Board Chairman and one and all are cordially invited to be on hand to present their views as this is an important matter. Make it a point to be at the Community Hall next Tuesday evening. We want your opinion. This is your decision.

A FIRM COUNCIL:
We have come to the end of another trial time and once more we must make a decision. During the past six months the National Film Board of Canada has made a series of films constantly available to us on a trial basis, now those people would like to know whether we want to form a Film Council and keep this influx of education at film at our disposal at all times. The Board has found that the amount of films used here more than warrants the formation of a council, however, you the people must decide for or con.

To form such a Film Council and to support it will cost $100.00 per year plus the fact that a projector must be bought during the next six months. The one presently in use is property of the National Film Board and must be returned at the earliest convenience. Personally, I would like to get the feel of the different service clubs and other

Reports

Public Works have always been a major item in construction in our country. In other years I have had the honor to be one of the many who have been called upon to give the public works report at the annual meeting of the Public Works Association of Canada. Since 1960 the has been a Canadian citizen.

When the school term finishes, Mrs. Raine will join her husband at the Raine family in Alberta. She plans to teach in a job is available - and to write about her experiences at the Inuvik school. "I will certainly miss my pupils," she says. "But they're much too young to miss me."

social organizations of the community in this matter. They are the people who will be using the funds and this equipment from time to time and should be in an ideal position to judge whether we want a N.P.B. Council here or not.

In these three years we in Jasper Edson have received new R.C.M.P. barracks in Edmonton and Hinton. Tenders are now out for a new R.C.M.P. barracks in Edson. New post offices have been built in Barlewell, Whitecourt and Wainwright.

These public buildings are economic for the Government and bring jobs and money to a community. It should also be pointed out that the Federal Government pays a grant in lieu of taxes to the towns in which they are situated.

Boiler buildings, the Federal Government built what we call looks after certain lakes where either commercial or tourist traffic is heavy enough. In this regard, two years ago we built a $35,000 wharf at Warman. Reputed federal wharves at Fish Beach and old extensive stone clearing at Alberta Beach.

An Indian Indian prepares to leave Canada's north

Taken from McLean's Magazine Submitted by Fred Stern, Branson Dam.

One April morning this year, in the Anglican chapel at Inuvik, a small town on the Mackenzie delta, the favorite teacher at the government school was married, wearing her favorite dress, a sari, Chantrel Varone, from Bon Bay, had come a long way to meet her husband, Henry Raine, just to teach while, Eskimo and Indian students the rules of English composition.

In 1959, after five years as press secretary to the Indian high commissioner in Ottawa, Miss Varone went north. She found her grade three and four pupils "on the whole, a happy lot, although I didn't get to meet any adult Eskimo or Indian," she found the weather, which often drops to 60 degrees below zero, invigorating. She also found a "mutual photographic interest in northern nature" with Henry Raine, a Swiss-born construction man who was surveying the Inuvik townsite.

Miss Varone's family comes from Karachi, where she was born, but in 1947, after the partition of India, they moved to Bombay, she has a BA from the University of Bombay, an MA in Journalism from the University of Syracuse. Since 1959 she has been a Canadian citizen.

Hughenden Pipelines Limited were the first applicant to the Provincial Department of Mines and Minerals for a permit to construct a pipeline for the transport of propane and butane. Their original application, filed in February, 1960, assumed at that time that their proposed 148-mile pipeline running from Rimbey to Hughenden would assist in reducing transportation and storage costs of LP-Gas. This would result in lowering the cost of these products for Alberta farmers, the primary users.

Describing the Hughenden Pipelines' proposal, Mr. Jenkins terms it a pro-Alberta proposition one which reflects the urgent need for first consideration being given local farmers and industry in the disposition of the province's surplus LP-Gas.

"We believe," says Hughenden Pipelines' President, "that the people of Alberta must be protected from wholesale export of their natural bountiful, a rich resource which can contribute greatly to the development and prosperity of this province and its citizens. Our plan, the creation of an efficient distribution system, will ensure reliable year-round supply at a stable low price and will bring LP-Gas to the consumer at the lowest possible cost."

"Furthermore," continues Mr. Jenkins, "it is our intention to give priority and preference to house-hold residents of the Province of Alberta for investment in the Hughenden Pipelines' system, which will thus enable Albertans to participate in the purchase of interest-bearing debentures."

In forecasting the ultimate operation of the system, Mr. Jenkins explains that HincP-Gas is a natural resource and utility of Alberta, his company would not recommend to the Board that the operation of Hughenden Pipelines' system come directly under the supervision of the Reg. Board of Public Utility Commissioners.

First stage of Hughenden Pipelines' proposed $3,000,000.00 system calls for the construction of the pipeline from Hughenden to Nevis, (80 miles), and from Nevis to Rimbey (60 miles). Future installations call for the construction of a total of 148 miles of pipeline, with those from Rimbey to Nevis, from Nevis to Inuvik, and from Nevis to Wainwright.

Underground storage facilities in the Hughenden salt caverns, owned by Alberta Underground Storage Ltd., will be utilized by Hughenden Pipelines Limited for storing LP-Gas in the off-

"There will be a reduction in the total cost of propane to Alberta farmers of up to 34 per gallon, plus an assumed supply and stable marketing conditions! The Newer Obol Dam

The Old Horseshoe Dam

50 YEARS

CALGARY POWER LTD.

SERVING THE PROVINCE OF ALBERTA

Here's a real saga of the old West, a story that fires the imagination of every Westerner. The building of HORSESHOE, the first major hydro-electric development in the West, is a story of courage and vision that helped to open up this country.

In the early 1900's the only source of hydro power in the West was a small 280 h.p. water wheel plant at the Eau Claire sawmill on the Bow River. However, in 1909 work started on HORSESHOE. Imagine the problems of excavating without modern power equipment. The only power was muscle... provided by 200 men with picks and shovels. Horsepower was just that... horse drawn slips and fresnos.

Cement came by rail spur from the Canada Cement Plant at Exshaw, and sand and gravel (150 car loads) was hauled in by rail to be fed to the cement mixers. Friendly Stony Indians dropped into the camp from time to time.

The trials and tribulations were many. At one time the complete coffer dam was washed out by a flood. Slowly, however, the dam took shape and on May 21, 1911 HORSESHOE was completed with a capacity of 20,000 h.p. Here is a lasting memorial to the courage and vision of the men who planned and built the first large hydro-electric development "out West".

Referring again to his prediction of a reduction in the laid down cost of propane to the farmers of up to 24 per gallon and figuring on an annual consumption of 60 million gallons or more, Mr. Jenks forecasts a saving for Alberta farmers of approximately $1,000,000.00 per year.

Only 5-6% of the total households in the Province of Alberta are presently served by natural gas, leaving 40% beyond both the current and projected natural gas pipeline limits.

"It is this forgotten 40% group that we propose to remember and to serve," Mr. Jenks declares. "The Hughenden Pipelines" proposal is a realistic plan that becomes economically feasible immediately on operation. On the other hand, the major export schemes must undergo several years of preparation before they will become entirely economic propositions."

"We believe that wholesale export of LP-Gas will place control of the price structure outside the province, while the operation of Hughenden Pipelines" integrated system will keep price - control within Alberta, where it ought to remain. It is also our contention that the ready supply and economy of LP-Gas as afforded by Hughenden Pipelines' system will undoubtedly play a major role in attracting to this province future companies engaged in the petrochemical industry, which will in turn, result in the opening of many secondary industries."

"Summing up," says Mr. Jenks "we submit that our proposal, unlike the many export plans, which propose vast expenditures, thereby requiring the backing of large international corporations, will not only safeguard the very best interests of the people of Alberta, but will also be definitely reflected in the orderly development of a rich natural resource, the very birthright of Albertans."

At Okavue, General Motors of Canada builds commercial vehicles ranging from half-ton pickups up to 36,000 pound gross vehicle weight tractor-trailer type trucks.

In addition to production for the Canadian market, General Motors of Canada at Okavue builds cars and trucks for export to every continent.

In a single day, as many as 1,300 cars and trucks have been produced at the big plants of General Motors of Canada at Okavue, for the domestic and export markets.

The Chapel Hour

"THE HAND OF GOD"

Taken from Good Business

In the restaurant business, Mother's Day is one of the biggest days of the year. On that day husbands, in greater numbers than usual, escort their wives out to dine at a small tribute for the thousand or so meals each woman prepares at home during the rest of the year. Restauranters make a big thing of Mother's Day, preparing for it far in advance.

McCaffery's Family Restaurant, of Santa Fe Springs, California, last year did thirty per cent more business on Mother's Day than on any previous day since the restaurant was opened three and a half years before. And this was accomplished without any special promotion, special advertising, or special offers.

Ray McCaffery is convinced that the increase in business came from a program he put into effect two months before Mother's Day, without any particular thought of adding to his profits.

Each Sunday this statement appears on the back of every McCaffery guest check. "90% of this check will be donated to the church of your choice." Space is provided for the guest to write in the name and address of his church, as well as his own name and address. The same menu is used for every other day, and there is no increase in prices.

That was the only innovation at McCaffery's Family Restaurant prior to last Mother's Day, and apparently it was responsible for a thirty per cent increase in business.

On the floor of the large menu is a full-length photograph symbolizing a church. Beside the illustration are these words: "Support the church of your choice." On the back of the menu is printed "The Spirit of Business," from the writings of Francis I. Gable, first editor of Good Business:

"This place of business is an abiding place of good; this good is shared by those who work here and those who deal here."

"The spirit of service is here; we are willing and ready to exert our best efforts to render efficient service."

"The spirit of good will and friendliness is manifest in our dealings with one another and with our customers."

"The spirit of joy is here, and its radiance fills the hearts of those who call."

"The spirit of propriety is an active force in our affairs and in the affairs of those who come to us for service."

"The spirit of constructive speech abides here. We speak no unkind, unclear, or untrue words, and we expect to hear none spoken

"There is but one Presence and one Power in this establishment: the presence and power of God."

On each table is a complete list of churches in the surrounding communities.

When Ray began taking his Sunday guest checks, he did not know that it would increase his business. In fact, it was not important to him whether it did or not. He simply felt that taking notice to be a definite part of his business operation. The result has been that his business has been growing steadily. His customers have spoken to him about the idea again and again. They have come back and bought, their friends, and have told others of "the restaurant that gives on Sundays."

Ray McCaffery's relatively short career as a restaurant owner is a revealing example of the truth that when one is ready for his good, good is always waiting for him. Six years ago he became the proprietor of a sixteen - stool cafe counter in the bus station at Whittier, California. From that small beginning, with scarcely any capital, he expanded his business until now he has three restaurants in different communities, with a total seating capacity of 171. Strangely enough, he did not seek this expansion. The same menu is used for every other day, and there is no increase in prices.

Ray is a sincere, trust-inspiring man with a hearty handshake, a saving sense of humor. He has an unshakable faith in God. One sometimes feels that Ray himself is filled with wonder at how good God has been to him.

"I'm not completely out of the woods yet," he said, leaning back in his chair with his hands behind his head in his small, crowded office. "At one time I was making payments of $3,000 a month. How they're $1,700 a month, but never for a minute since I began have I been afraid."

God is my partner."

Truly, Ray McCaffery has gone into partnership with God. In a business notorious for failures, Ray has succeeded with the others with more money, more experience, greater establishment, even better locations, have failed. His unswerving faith that his Senior Farmer is always there, working, counseling, and blessing, has given him confidence even in difficult times. The guiding, saving Presence of Spirit is eternally manifest in the outworking of his affairs.

Supplies went out of their way to help Ray. They gave extended time for payment dates when necessary, listened to his insistence that he wanted only the best of foodstuffs, and never grumbled at the extra service that was sometimes required. There were times when he was unable to keep up his payments, yet he did not owe so much as the threatened threat. His creditors co-operated with him; and together they worked out the problems. Ray McCaffery inspires confidence; supplies feel it and have faith in him.

A neighbor stopped in at Ray's home one evening. Ray knew the man, of course, but not intimately by so he was surprised and touched when the neighbor finally blurted out "Look, Ray, I just made a sale and I've got $1,500 that I'm not going to need for three or four months. Thought maybe you could use it." Ray carefully could! Similar things have happened on other occasions; money has come from unexpected sources without Ray's directly seeking it.

Bankers, too, have had faith in Ray McCaffery a long, strong faith when there was not much that was tangible to go on. Ray says he is not sure that if the positions were reversed, he would have been so understanding.

Ray McCaffery and his wife, Iva Lee, have faith in God. It isn't merely an abstract or intellectual faith, but a deep and abiding conviction that at all times they work with God. He works with them, and they cannot fail. They know too, that in times of near disaster unexpected help comes from other persons, as God will. (Cont. page 8, Col. 1) through His good channels never too late, never too little, to bring the perfect answer, recognition of the constant presence and availability of God brings peace and humility, and invincible courage. This is what success is made of. What might have seemed foolhardy was simply a conviction of the integrity of Ray McCaffery

When Ray opened his restaurant in San Francisco, he had a sign at considerable cost a large sign that read "McCaffery's Burger Bar." Although this was a full-scale restaurant, he had used the same name before with good success and felt it would be effective here. But, as he admits "This sign didn't do a thing for me." The restaurant is on a highway, and few of the people traveling through were interested in a hamburger. They were looking for a restaurant where they might stop to rest and have dinner. So Ray was losing much of the transient business.

However, because of his investment in the sign, and the even greater investment that would be required for a new sign, he could see no way out of the problem. One day the man from whom Ray leases the building stepped in and suggested that Ray might have a new sign. The upshot of it was that the owner paid for the installation of a new and very attractive $7,000 sign and charged Ray for only half the cost, allowing him to pay it off monthly.

During warm weather, which lasts the greater part of the year there, it was uncomfortably warm in McCaffery's restaurant. Fans and evaporative coolers were ineffective, and employees and customers alike often became restless. A refrigerated cooling system was far too expensive for Ray at that time. The owner came in one day and, while mopping his brow, declared that there ought to be refrigeration in the place. In the end, he paid for the installation financial arrangement as for the sign.

Certainly it is to the owner's advantage that Ray should prosper. The rent Ray pays is a percentage of his gross income. The hand of God always works for the benefit of all His children. Everyone gains. Time and time again, someone in a delicate, difficult, or desperate situation is lifted out of it in such a manner that not only he but everyone else involved is somehow helped.

How do I save?

If there's a fool-proof way to save, I've yet to hear of it. But one thing I do know. The "Royale" 2-Account Plan makes saving a whole lot easier. Try it: use a "Personal Chequing Account" to pay household and other bills...

and keep your Savings Account separate -- an account reserved for saving only. The plan works. Because when you have two separate accounts you can curb that natural urge to dip into savings; you actually see your savings grow.

1961 CENSUS

"SOMEWHERE I'LL FIND YOU"

No matter where you are during June, census takers will make every effort to reach you.

Chances are that you, or some member of your household, will be home when the census taker knocks. But if you're not, for any one of a score of reasons, you will be reached during June or later, if need be -- by the Canadian census.

If you're a trapper in the North, the census questions likely were put to you weeks ago by RCMP officials doubling as census takers. If you're planning a vacation abroad during June, you will be contacted upon your return so that the national portrait of Canada may be complete.

But suppose you are travelling across Canada during June. Or that you are in hospital, or stationed at a military camp in Europe, or serving with the Canadian merchant marine on the high seas, or posted to Canadian duty mission abroad.

Even so, you will be reached by the census. All these possibilities have been taken into account.

Census officials say there is "a good chance" most vacationers travelling across Canada will be reached at some point during their trip. Hotels, motels and tourist camps will be surveyed on the evening of May 31 - June 1st.

For vacationers travelling abroad census takers will report their households closed for the entire period of emigration. They will be contacted on return -- even though that may be some time after the summer -- through either the regional or head office of the census.

Most hospital patients will be enumerated at their home addresses. Usually all that will be required at the hospital is their name and address, to check whether census enumeration was actually completed at home. But some patients -- especially those with lengthy illnesses -- can be enumerated only in hospital. In such cases, a member of the hospital staff will generally act as a census taker.

Canadian servicemen in military camps in Canada and Europe, and those being supplied by the Department of National Defence.

Merchant shipping companies will have the master of vessels of Canadian registry distribute individual census forms to the crew. And forms will also be sent to embassies, trade commissioners, and other representatives of federal and provincial governments abroad. The forms are distributed in advance, filled ed in, mailed and mailed back after June 1.

Indians on reservations will be enumerated in co-operation with the Indian Affairs Branch, Department of Citizenship and Immigration. The Department will nominate census takers, and the enumeration will follow a pattern similar to the rest of Canada.

How many people are involved in these special census procedures? Less than five percent of the Canadian population. The time and effort involved in reaching them is necessarily out of proportion to their numbers. But census officials say it is important that a national census reach every one. "We don't want the Canadian population to be reported lower than it actually is, just because some people are hard to reach."

FIELD DAY FOR SHEEP OWNERS

A sheep-shearing and management school is being held in the Duffield district on Friday, May 26th. Taking place on the farm of Allan Francis, which is at Duffield Corner, 14 miles west of Stony Plain on Highway 10, the school will begin at 9:00 a.m. and end at about 5:00 p.m. in the afternoon.

Sponsored by the Alberta Department of Agriculture, the program will include instruction in shearing by hand and by machine, sorting and packing of wool, trimming and crutching of ewes. It will also include docking and castration of lambs, treating sheep for worms, spraying for ticks, and selection of breeding stock.

The work will be demonstrated by experienced sheep men, and those attending will have a chance to actually do the job themselves under expert guidance.

Sheep are among our most profitable types of livestock, but a great many sheep owners lose much of their income by not knowing the best shearing and management methods. The school will provide the best possible opportunity to learn the four points of the sheep business. It will mean more dollars for those sheep men who attend.

At the school last all day, those attending are asked to bring their lunch. Coffee will be supplied.

usual refinery shutdowns for annual maintenance work. However this reduction will be partly offset by increased Alberta crude oil nominations projected for the second quarter.

Increased earnings for the first quarter, compared with last year, were attributed to higher sales volumes of gasoline which more than offset reduced sales of heating fuels caused by the mild winter. Natural gas sales increased 6% over the same period last year. Since the beginning of the year, the company has participated in eight successfully completed oil wells, including four wholly-owned wells in the Parkman area of Southeast Saskatchewan.

South American piranha.

At least 20 species of piranha -- all of them flesh eaters and some who consider man's flesh as tasty as any other -- are native to the waters of the world's largest river, the Amazon, which flows through the jungle-like rain forests of South America.

A single specimen of one species is currently on display at the Calgary Aquarium, located on the grounds of the Calgary Botanical Garden at 9th Ave. and 18th St. S. E., and Curator Taylor and his assistants take no chances with him. "He has bitten through every net we have placed him in," Mr. Taylor says. "And whenever we move him from the tank we have to support the net with a heavy wire screen."

Ten piranhas are now being reared together by an aquarist in Toronto and will be sent to the Calgary Aquarium when they reach maturity. "According to the theory, these ten should be compatible not with our present specimen -- but at least with each other," Mr. Taylor said.

It's unlikely, however, that they will ever trust each other. "The philosophy of the piranha is 'never turn your back on your brother'," Mr. Taylor said. "When they're in the tank together you can see them watching each other... their eyes appear to follow each movement of the other fish... you can almost see the expression of doubt on their faces and the flushed color which often signifies that they can be provoked very easily by their companions."

When that happens, the piranhas tear at each other with their razor-sharp teeth. The damage is less than might be expected: fins and tails of the piranha have remarkable regenerative power and after the battle soon grow back as good as new.

For the 1961 Census, Canada will have 1,336 census commissioners and about 70,000 census takers. Each census taker will travel from door to door collecting the facts required.

GRADUATION 1961

Almost one hundred graduates, parents and guests filled the Cardium Room for the Frank Maddock High School Graduation Banquet last Friday evening. The gala affair, conducted in semi-formal dress is the highlight of the school and community year with a Graduation Dance held in the high school auditorium, following the Banquet. Eight fine young persons graduated this year, and it is expected that next year's class will see possibly three times that number graduating. Though quantitatively the group may be larger next year, qualitatively it can surely be no better.

Following is the program as it was conducted for the evening: Grace was given by the Reverend R. Brown, of All Saints Anglican Church, Master of Ceremonies Wally Mohr gave the Toast to the Queen, with the Toast to the School Board being given by Pete Kwasyncia and the Reply given by Mr. Frank Maddock, chairman of the Honorary Main School Divisional Board, Toast to the Staff was given by Howard Jensen with the Reply given by Dr. V. Kupchenko.

Terry McManus sang a song, "Moments to Remember" with his sister Gayle at the piano. Class History was given by Joyce Schulte. His Worship the Mayor of Drayton Valley, Mr. A. Melis brought an address of welcome. Theodore (Ted) Cymbaluk proposed the Toast to the Parents, with Mrs. Jensen making a very fitting reply. The Class Prophecy was read by Terry McQuig, which was followed by the Presentation of Scrolls and Pins to the Graduates by High School Principal McManus. Toast to the Graduates was proposed by Norma Olsberg, with Mrs. Peters giving a very excellent "Message to the Graduates." Valerian (Ian) Joe Hruschak gave the valedictory address which will appear in another issue of this paper.

Mr. McManus introduced the Guest Speaker for the evening, Mr. George Bruce, Director of Correspondence Branch of the Department of Education, Province of Alberta.

The speaker stressed the advantages of a smaller school such as one in a town, in preference to a large city high school where there is too much between teacher and pupil. He spoke also on the growth of adult education as represented by the extension courses taken by correspondence. He said that enrollment in the department stood at around three thousand.

This is the picture of the eight graduates and their dinner companions on the evening of the Frank Maddock High School Graduation Banquet held in the Cardium Room on Friday evening, May 26th. The eight who graduated were: Gayle McManus, Joyce Schulte, Joseph Hruschak, Terry McQuig, Peter Kwasyncia, Theodore Cymbaluk, Howard Jensen and John Hutchinson.

PICTURE ERROR

We are not responsible for the mix-up in the photographs which were in last week's paper, of the Municipal Police and the D.V. Fire Department. The error was made by the photographer in Drayton Valley and we did not discover it until too late to run the paper again. A similar mistake was made by the photographer on the issue of May 19th, just preceding the Amateur Boxing when the Boxers pictures were switched. However, we were fortunate enough at that time to discover the error in time to re-run the front page of the paper although it did entail a 1/2 of extra time and work. We certainly expect, for our own sake, as well as the sake of the readers, that similar mistakes will not occur in the future.

Below are the pictures in their proper order, with the names of the individuals immediately underneath:

The courts will be open every day at all hours so here is your chance to swing the old racket and enjoy your summer. Anyone using the courts is asked to use tennis shoes or some rubber soled footwear as is customary on all hard surfaced courts.
